

Sergeant's® Nature's Guardian® Effective. Safe. Natural.

But, for Insects It's a Natural Born Killer!

To protect themselves, certain plants have developed highly effective defense mechanisms against potentially harmful insects. That's the idea behind Sergeant's Nature's Guardian. Using a patented formula of natural botanical extracts including peppermint oil, cinnamon oil, lemon grass oil and thyme oil, Sergeant's created Sergeant's Nature's Guardian, a natural line of pet care products to protect against fleas, ticks and mosquitoes.

The U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) approved the plant oils (active ingredients) used in Sergeant's Nature's Guardian for use as food and beverage additives for human consumption.

Protect your dog or cat from fleas, ticks and mosquitoes naturally, with Sergeant's Nature's Guardian.

How it Works

Invertebrates such as fleas, ticks and mosquitoes produce a neuro-transmitter called octopamine. Octopamine regulates insects' heart rate and metabolism. The natural active ingredients in Sergeant's Nature's Guardian block octopamine – causing a breakdown of the central nervous system – killing insects almost instantaneously.

Safe for You & Your Pets

Because octopamine is not found in humans or other mammals, birds and fish, the natural active ingredients in Sergeant's Nature's Guardian are safe to use around children and pets, when used as directed.

In addition, Sergeant's Nature's Guardian products are ideal for young, old, pregnant, nursing and debilitated pets, when used according to directions.

Sergeant's® Together With National Wildlife Federation®

Sergeant's is proud to support the conservation efforts of the National Wildlife Federation.

National Wildlife Federation (NWF) is America's conservation organization inspiring Americans to protect wildlife for our children's future. NWF unites individuals from diverse backgrounds through a grassroots network of 4 million members, supporters and volunteers.

NWF programs educate and inspire people from all walks of life to conserve wildlife and wildlife habitat. NWF focuses its conservation work in three major areas that will have the biggest impact on the future of America's wildlife: confronting climate change, protecting and restoring wildlife habitat and connecting people with nature.

Frequently Asked Questions

How does Sergeant's Nature's Guardian work to kill fleas, ticks and mosquitoes?

The active ingredients in Sergeant's Nature's Guardian products block the neurotransmitter octopamine, killing insects almost instantly. Since octopamine is found only in insects, it is safe to use Sergeant's Nature's Guardian around children and pets, when used as directed.

Are Sergeant's Nature's Guardian products effective?

YES, Sergeant's Nature's Guardian products contain natural active ingredients that kill fleas, ticks and mosquitoes on contact. In addition, the natural ingredients are highly effective in repelling pests.

How often can I apply Sergeant's Nature's Guardian Squeeze-Ons?

Sergeant's Nature's Guardian Squeeze-Ons should be applied monthly. However, if your pet is in a highly infested environment repeat applications should be made if necessary.

If I use Sergeant's Nature's Guardian, should I use another flea and tick product as well?

NO, we do not recommend using multiple types of flea and tick treatments.

When will Sergeant's Nature's Guardian products begin to work?

Sergeant's Nature's Guardian products begin to work immediately after they are applied.

Do Sergeant's Nature's Guardian products have an odor?

YES, since Sergeant's Nature's Guardian formulas use natural active ingredients such as cinnamon, clove, peppermint, lemon grass and thyme, there is a natural spice fragrance. The fragrance will lessen in time.

How much product should I apply on my cat or dog?

Refer to label directions for correct dosage information. When applying this or any other animal or human health care product, make sure you read the label carefully.
